

CAPITAL MARKETS · WEEK 4

The secondary market for private lending paper is more open than you think.

Institutional capital is hunting flow. The question is whether your origination process is ready to be bought.

THEN

*A few years ago,
selling RTL or DSCR
loans to an institutional
aggregator required serious
scale.*

NOW

That's changed.

15+ active institutional buyers are looking for flow — and they're sourcing from operators most originators never thought would qualify.

WHO'S BUYING

The buyers writing checks.

Toorak $13B+

Roc360 $15B+

Genesis $20B+

Verus 300+ partners

Anchor Loans

RCN Capital

And the list keeps growing as private credit funds open dedicated RTL/DSCR sleeves.

MARKET SIZE

in projected 2025 market volume. Institutional capital wants exposure to non-bank real estate credit — and they need originators who can deliver clean, consistent flow.

THE LIMITING FACTOR

*On the originator
side, the bottleneck
isn't capital.*

*It's
documentation.*

THE QUESTION BUYERS ASK

*Can you show
a buyer your
rates were priced consistently?*

That your loan characteristics follow a process — not the mood of whoever was at the desk that day?
